

Information

Our website uses cookies. Cookies are small text files stored on your computer or mobile device. They allow a website to remember information such as preferences or the items in shopping baskets.

Cookies may be either "persistent" cookies or "session" cookies. A persistent cookie will be stored by a web browser and will remain valid until its set expiry date, unless deleted by the user before the expiry date. A session cookie, on the other hand, will expire at the end of the user session, when the web browser is closed.

Cookies can be set by the website you have browsed, i.e. the website displayed in the uniform resource locator (URL) window. These are called first party cookies and are often necessary for the website to function properly. You can set your browser to block or alert you to these cookies, but some parts of the site will then not work as intended. Third party cookies are set by a website other than the one you are browsing, such as reviews.co.uk.

If you so wish, you can delete cookies already stored on your computer, but this will have a negative impact on the usability of many websites.

Most browsers automatically accept cookies unless you change your internet browser settings. If you do wish to restrict, block or delete the cookies which are set by any websites, you can generally do this through your browser settings. These settings are usually found in the 'options' or 'preferences' menu of your internet browser.
